

AVEBURY CONSOLE TABLE

A friend and relation of the best-selling AVA, Avebury, has two pentahedrons balanced on top of each other. The slender neck belies the strength of this table. The geometry is complex, but the result looks effortless and is spectacular. Its statuesque outline is particularly well suited to a simple glass top, whilst the base can be made in steel and finished in any of our standard or specialist hand painted finishes. Alternatively bronze can be used to fabricate the base of this console table – you can see all of the available finishes here.
